CEO of BHB Commemorates DailyMale Anniversary

Scott Pearman
CEO & President

Bermuda Hospitals Board

The DailyMale was established to make a difference in men's health and they have exceeded all expectations. In just two years the DailyMale has helped remove barriers to care for men in Bermuda and encourage open dialogue about health concerns that are often overlooked. Hundreds of men across Bermuda have benefited from the free health screening clinics the DailyMale has offered. Some have discovered they had health issues that needed addressing, and all have learnt more about the importance of proactive healthcare.

With easily accessible, free screening available in the community, I am hopeful that we improve outcomes for men in Bermuda who do face a challenging diagnosis. I would like to congratulate and thank the DailyMale on its two-year anniversary and pay tribute to the many doctors and nurses at BHB who have volunteered their time to support the charity's activities.

I'm greatly encouraged by what has been achieved so far and look forward to what comes next. We at BHB will continue to support this work and remain committed to expand services, ensuring men in Bermuda continue to have access to world-class care.

Scott Pearman

Chief Executive Officer of the Bermuda Hospitals Board

Proudly commemorates the two-year anniversary of the DailyMale Men's Health Clinic, an initiative that has transformed men's health in Bermuda.

Our Purpose

Prostate cancer is the most common cancer in men in Bermuda, while cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of death. Our clinic has successfully referred patients to the Department of Health Clinic and Bermuda Hospitals Board for further diagnosis and treatment. Up to 6% of visitors have been diagnosed with prostate cancer and are receiving treatment or are cured.

DailyMale is a mobile clinic offering free prostate cancer and cardiovascular screenings to uninsured (12%) and underinsured (23%) men. We aim to identify high-risk individuals for early diagnosis and treatment, reducing the costs of advanced diseases and improving awareness. Our purpose is to promote early detection, prevention, and informed health decisions among men in Bermuda.

Our History

Dr. Makanjuola, an internationally renowned urologist, and Dr. Robinson a Bermudian doctor with a Master's in Public Health, teamed up to create the DailyMale clinic. Dr. Makanjuola noticed a high number of prostate cancer diagnoses during his visits to Bermuda and wanted to improve care, while Dr. Robinson had a research paper on prostate cancer disparities and aimed to raise community awareness. Upon discovering their shared goals, they combined their efforts to launch the clinic, focusing on prostate cancer awareness and community engagement.

Funded by the Bermuda Health Council in 2023 for a 6-month pilot, they developed a community health model to address Bermuda's prostate cancer and cardiovascular disease health inequalities. The first clinic was held on 4 February 2023 and to date, nearly 300 men have received health screening in Bermuda.

Feedback surveys demonstrated that 98% of men were satisfied with their experience and 100% wanted DailyMale permanently available. DailyMale now has over 90 volunteers made of local community leaders, health care professionals, and prostate cancer survivors.

DailyMale established charitable status in February 2024, and continues to service the community today.

Volunteer Experience

Over the past year, I have volunteered at the DailyMale Clinic, which offers prostate and heart disease screenings for uninsured and underinsured men in the community. This experience has allowed me to apply my phlebotomy skills, assist others in developing theirs, and serve my community within the healthcare industry.

Additionally, I have had the opportunity to network with new professionals and enhance both my interpersonal and practical skills. I am excited to continue contributing to the growth of DailyMale in the future!

Ronue Cann, Prostate Cancer Survivor, 2023

Ronue's Story

From celebrating a well-earned retirement to facing a life-threatening cancer diagnosis, discover how Mr. Ronue Cann overcame this challenge and is now living his retirement cancer-free.

In January 2023, 65-year-old, Ronue Cann's journey began with a sense of confusion and uncertainty when his doctor told him his PSA levels were high, even though he felt perfectly fine. He was left to navigate the unknown on his own, feeling a mix of concern and confusion as he researched prostate health. When the DailyMale clinic offered free screenings and information, it felt like a lifeline at a crucial moment. He felt a sense of relief when he attended the DailyMale panel discussion and learned from others' experiences, finding both support and understanding.

However, his anxiety returned as he attended the DailyMale clinic at Somerset Cricket Club in April 2023. The unknowns surrounding the screening left him nervous and uncertain about what would come next. When the results showed his PSA levels hadn't changed, his worry intensified. Yet, speaking with the urologist, Dr. Makanjuola, helped him feel a bit more in control, and he finally understood the importance of early detection. Despite the heavy emotional weight of his past, having lost his wife to cancer, Ronue felt a deep sense of responsibility to himself and his family to take action and stay proactive.

In the months that followed, he underwent further diagnostic tests and was diagnosed with prostate cancer. But armed with newfound knowledge, support from the Prostate Cancer Awareness group, and the medical resources he received from DailyMale, he made an informed decision to undergo surgery. After a successful procedure, Ronue felt both relief and hope, knowing he had conquered the cancer that threatened his future.

Today, he's not only cancer-free but also full of gratitude. Ronue speaks with passion about his experience, using his story to inspire others in his community. He emphasizes the importance of early detection, reflecting on how the resources from DailyMale gave him a renewed sense of purpose and a positive outlook on life. His emotional journey—from fear and confusion to empowerment and advocacy—has transformed him into a beacon of hope for others facing similar challenges.

Integrated Care in Bermuda: Understanding Prostate Health

A guide for people seeking to understand prostate health and care in Bermuda

In February 2025, the Bermuda Hospitals Board launched an 'Integrated Health Care: Understanding Prostate Health' booklet and PSA testing guidelines as part of the outcome of work undertaken to develop an integrated prostate cancer care pathway in Bermuda.

The booklet aims to provide information to help men better understand prostate issues, prevention, risk and treatment for many prostate conditions including cancer, in Bermuda referencing the DailyMale and the work that we do in Bermuda

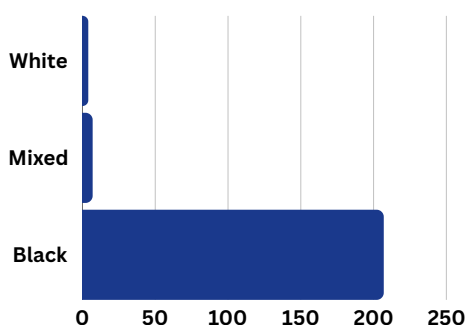

Results: DEMOGRAPHICS

We have a 'no one is turned away' policy

From age 32 to 91 we had 290 visitors:

- average age 64
- medium age 65

Of 218 who shared their background 95% were Black Bermudian

Of 256 who provided their educational background 52% had less than high school or high school/GED level

CONTEXT: BERMUDA HEALTH DISPARITIES

95% of 218 DailyMale visitors were Black Bermudian.

Health disparities in Bermuda highlight inequities among different social, economic, and racial groups. Black Bermudians, who make up a large portion of the population, experience worse health outcomes than white Bermudians, facing higher rates of chronic conditions like diabetes, hypertension, and heart disease.

Of 279 visitors who shared health coverage 214 were underinsured or had no insurance

Though Bermuda's healthcare system is generally good, lower-income Black families often struggle with access to quality care due to challenges like limited transportation, lack of insurance, and geographic barriers. Those from lower socioeconomic backgrounds also experience poorer health outcomes because of limited healthcare access, lower health literacy, and higher rates of smoking, alcohol use, and other risk behaviors.

Results:

CARDIOVASCULAR HEALTH

FROM ACCESS TO MEDICATION TO PROVIDING AWARENESS

Of 220 visitors, 128 had hypertension or elevated blood pressure levels

Our physicians advised 186 visitors on managing their health in one or more areas:

CONTEXT:

CARDIOVASCULAR HEALTH DISPARITIES

58% of 220 DailyMale visitors had higher blood pressures.

Low-income communities in Bermuda face significant barriers to accessing quality healthcare, particularly cardiovascular care. These communities often lack resources like healthy food, gyms, and other facilities that help prevent heart disease.

Hypertension, diabetes, and obesity, major risk factors for cardiovascular disease, are more common in lower-income and Black Bermudian communities. Studies show that Black Bermudians experience higher rates of hypertension, a key factor in heart disease, influenced by both genetic factors and socioeconomic disparities, as well as lifestyle factors like diet and exercise.

Results: PROSTATE HEALTH

FROM PSA TESTS TO HOSPITAL DIAGNOSTICS

220 visitors consented to and had a PSA test:

- 17% [38x] had abnormal PSA levels

Of the 220 tested:

- 90% [197x] consulted an onsite physician consultant [136x] or a urologist consultant [61x]

CONTEXT: PROSTATE HEALTH DISPARITIES

17% of 220 DailyMale visitors had abnormal PSA levels.

Studies show that Black men in Bermuda, like in other parts of the world, have a significantly higher risk of developing prostate cancer than white men, with a tendency toward more aggressive forms of the disease. This disparity is seen across many African diaspora populations globally.

In Bermuda, many men, especially from marginalized communities, are diagnosed with prostate cancer at later stages. This is often due to a lack of awareness or reluctance to seek care, which is more common in lower-income or disadvantaged communities. Cultural stigma around prostate health and screening also plays a role, with many men, especially older ones, avoiding check-ups due to fears, taboos, or not understanding the importance of early detection.

From Community Clubs To A Mobile Van

To increase health access, remain cost-effective, improve health outcomes, and bridge healthcare to the community, we are raising funds to purchase and maintain Bermuda's first screening van. As we are centred around collaboration, our van can be utilised by other local charities and health organisations for other medical screening activities.

A health screening van will not only provide free point-of-care testing to the underserved but play a key role in improving the health of future generations.

We plan to continue our services through a mobile facility, upon its arrival in 2025.

Our response? Building trust through grassroots leadership, local partnerships, and a focus on compassionate, free healthcare access.

Men who attended our clinics fully endorsed our work, calling us “first class,” “inspirational,” and “efficient.” Thanks to Bermuda’s volunteers, businesses, and donors, we gained charitable status in February 2024 and raised $100,000 to secure a down payment on a health screening van!
